

Dr. Michael Dempewolf

Dr. Dempewolf brings his specialty in Sports Medicine to Mid-America Orthopedics Kansas City. His primary focus is open and arthroscopic treatment of the shoulder, elbow, hip, and knee. Dr. Dempewolf's use of biologics to speed recovery and healing after surgery, makes him one of Kansas City's most sought after surgeons.

Dr. Dempewolf was raised in St. Louis, and attended the University of Missouri as an undergraduate. He earned a dual degree DO/MBA program from Kansas City University of Medicine in conjunction with Rockhurst University. He completed his orthopedic surgery residency at a busy trauma center in Moreno Valley, California. He was elected chief resident in his last year, reflecting his work ethic and abilities as a leader. He then went on to receive advanced training by completing a Sports Medicine Fellowship at the Hoag Orthopedic Institute in Southern California. During this year, he assisted in the care of athletes at multiple levels, including the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim, the University of California, Irvine, CA and multiple local high schools.

He is a member of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons and the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine. He continues to pursue his passion of treating athletes in conjunction with Johnson County Community College, Kansas City Monarchs Baseball Club, and the Kansas City Blues Rugby organizations.

A devoted husband and father, Dr. Dempewolf enjoys spending time with his wife and two sons. He enjoys playing sports with his sons as well as fishing, golf, and travel.
